

Preschool Maple Tree Newsletter

We helped Incy Wincy spider get up the water spout again.

We took turns to be Humpty falling off the wall and our friends put us back together again.

Activities Covered:

Upcoming Activities:

This week we focused on Nursery Rhymes. There were mice, cows, and shooting stars.

This week we learning more about Books. Who writes the story, who draws the pictures and what the story is all about.

In Communication and Language, we focused on the rhyme "Humpty Dumpty" and put Humpty Dumpty back together in a cute craft.

In Communication and Language, we are going to read 'The Cook and the King' together and learn about the different materials the cook will use in the kitchen to prepare meals.

In Personal, Social and Emotional Development, we used time for our concert practices. We are starting to get excited for our different actions and movements on the stages.

In Personal, Emotional and Social Development, we are going to have a make and bake session and pretend to be little Chef's. We are going to make fairy bread.

In Literacy, we continued with blending and revised the third sound group - g,o,u,l,f,d. We started Literacy Assessments to be able to give our parents a clear understanding of their children's capabilities.

In Literacy, we will complete the Literacy Assessment.

In Mathematics, we did sequence activities putting the events of some rhymes in the correct order, as well as learned about the new 3D shape, the cube. We worked through the Math assessments too.

In Mathematics, we will complete the Math Assessment week.

In Understanding of the World, we focused on the nursery rhyme "Incy Wincy Spider" and made a fun wind-up craft.

In Understanding of the World, we will learn all about kings and understand that here in Qatar we have an Amir that looks after our country.

In Physical Development, we worked through the important gross and fine motor skills required to move on to the next year. Movements such as crossing the midline, core strength, balance, cutting, building puzzles, and manipulating fit together toys.

In Expressive Art and Design, we will make a chef's hat and a king's crown to play different roles in our dress up games.

Who knew nursery rhymes are full of adventures!

On Thursday we moved from classroom to classroom to play nursery rhyme games and act out different parts from the rhymes. We learnt how to make Patta cakes and play Humpty Dumpty splat to name a few!

We have so much to look forward to in the coming week including concert practice and dress up!

We have started our show and tell activities in our morning ring. At first there was hesitation and then our friends opened up to tell us all of their adventures and stories about their toys.

Pat-a-Cake Stack is just how we imagine being in the kitchen with friends making food and sharing stories and laughter. We used our imagination to make our own Incy Wincy spider.

Upcoming Events:

Book Week Rotation

Thursday 30th April

We will venture to our neighbouring classes and read different books play games with all the teachers.

We will come to school dressed up in our favourite book characters for the day too.

Tips for home:

- Please ensure your child gets to bed at a reasonable hour so he/she is ready to learn when they get to school.
- Display your child's work from school to help build a sense of pride in their accomplishments.
- Read the weekly newsletter, so that you keep up to date on what is happening.

The "Fitra" initiative, launches under the slogan "I honour how Allah created me" to strengthen awareness of the identity with which Allah created humans and to promote ways of achieving this innate identity by understanding the natural traits of each gender and recognizing their roles and responsibilities.

We did our best to put Humpty Dumpty back together too!

Humpty Dumpty Splat was so much fun! There was paint everywhere.
